Death and Dying in Chinese Medicine

5-6 October 2024

Locarno Regional Hospital

Inherent in the human condition is death and dying, with the many issues apparent with such inevitability— ranging from fears, confusion, and stress.

Like all cultures, the Chinese has interwoven the beliefs of what occurs during the dying process and even after death into Chinese medicine.

Through such beliefs and clinical observations, healing strategies have been designed to assist those in the dying process, to foster support to their family and loved ones, and to ensure a harmonious transition for the dying into the next “realm”.

This seminar by Jeffrey Yuen, the world renowned Daoist Priest and Lineage Master, offers a cultural perspective into death with rituals and techniques for the dying and the death.
